Description

SNMMI is pleased to announce the availability of the SNMMI-Technologist Section (TS) Travel Awards in 2014 to support the attendance of nuclear medicine technologists (NMTs) and nuclear medicine technology (NMT) students in order to present accepted abstracts at the June 2014 SNMMI Annual Meeting in St. Louis, Missouri.

This application is NOT for postdoctoral or clinical trainees and students (please see the SNMMI Annual Meeting Travel Award instead).

A limited number of $1,000 awardees will be selected in March 2014. Selection of recipients will be based upon several criteria:

- the abstract ranking by the judges
- the number of orals or posters for which the applicant is the designated presenter at the Annual Meeting
- the number of orals and posters for which the applicant is the first author
- SNMMI-TS membership status of the applicant – this is required (Student membership is free! Visit snmmi.org/membership for more information.)

The SNMMI-TS Travel Awards are made possible through a grant from the Education and Research Foundation for Nuclear Medicine and Molecular Imaging.

Requirements

Applicants must currently be certified NMTs or enrolled NMT students who will be presenting an accepted abstract(s) at the upcoming Annual Meeting.

Please complete the entire online application, which includes the following, by the application deadline:

- A brief online recommendation from the applicant’s academic/professional director confirming that the applicant is deserving of the travel award and that the applicant is considered a student or trainee at their university/institution.

Please note that past Travel Award recipients are eligible to apply as long as all eligibility criteria are met for 2013.
