2014 SNMMI Annual Meeting Travel Award
for physician and scientist trainees and students

NEW DATES! Application Window: October 9, 2013 – January 10, 2014

Description

SNMMI is pleased to announce the availability of the SNMMI Travel Awards in 2014 to support the attendance of students and postdoctoral or clinical trainees in order to present molecular imaging abstracts at the June 2014 SNMMI Annual Meeting in St. Louis, Missouri.

This application is NOT for nuclear medicine technologists and nuclear medicine technology students (please see instead the SNMMI-TS Annual Meeting Travel Award).

A limited number of $1,000 awardees will be selected in March 2014. Selection of recipients will be based upon several criteria:

- the abstract ranking by the judges
- the number of orals or posters for which the applicant is the designated presenter at the Annual Meeting
- the number of orals and posters for which the applicant is the first author
- SNMMI membership status of the applicant (extra point, but not required)

The SNMMI Travel Awards are made possible through a grant from the Education and Research Foundation for Nuclear Medicine and Molecular Imaging.

Requirements

Applicants must currently be students or trainees in a field relative to nuclear medicine and/or molecular imaging.

Please complete the entire online application, which includes the following, by the application deadline:

• A brief online recommendation from the applicant’s academic/professional director confirming that the applicant is deserving of the travel award and that the applicant is considered a student or trainee at their university/institution.

• A copy/copies of the accepted abstract(s)

Please note that past Travel Award recipients are eligible to apply as long as all eligibility criteria are met for 2013.
